REPORT

OF THE

SPECIAL COMMITTEE

APPOINTED BY THE

COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK,

RELATIVE TO THE

CATASTROPHE IN HAGUE STREET,

ON MONDAY, FEBRUARY 4th, 1850.

On Monday, the 4th day of February, 1850, a melancholy and most deplorable calamity occurred in our city, caused by the explosion of a steam boiler in the building known as Nos. 3 and 5 Hague street, whereby the building was instantaneously and wholly demolished; sixty-seven persons at work at the time therein were killed, and fifty others either severely or slightly injured.

The calamity, carrying, as it did, death and grief to upwards of seventy families, excited the deepest sympathy among all classes of our citizens, and it being deemed an event eminently requiring the notice and action of the municipal authorities of New York, and both Boards being convened, his Honor the Mayor, submitted the following message to the Common Council in relation thereto:

GENTLEMEN:

A most appalling disaster has occurred in our city, this morning at 8 o'clock. By the explosion of a steam boiler, it is believed, an immense building in Hague street was completely demolished, and about one hundred human beings buried beneath the ruins, of whom but a few have been rescued alive.

The members of the Police and Fire Departments instantly repaired to the scene, who, aided by the magistrates and other authorities, together with the citizens employed for the purpose, have done all, and are still doing all that human efforts can accomplish.

A strong force of police and laborers will be kept in constant activity at the scene, until the remains of the unfortunate persons, whose lives have been there lamentably sacrificed, shall have been recovered.

This most heart-rending disaster has affected all classes of citizens with the most profound grief, and has carried into many families the severest of woes.

Under this appalling calamity, I would respectfully recommend, that the two Boards of the Common Council appoint Committees to take such measures as they may deem the emergencies of the case may require, and to report their action at a subsequent meeting; and out of respect for the grief of those afflicted by this event, that the Common Council adjourn without the transaction of any other business.

My communication is necessarily brief, as I have been during the day at the scene of the disaster.

C. S. WOODHULL, Mayor.

Aldermen Griffin, Dodge, Franklin, Cook, Chapman and Oakley, together with Morgan Morgans, Esq., President, were appointed the Committee on the part of the Board of Aldermen.

And Assistant Aldermen Ward, Alvord and McCarthy, together with the President, Oscar W. Sturtevant, Esq., were appointed the Committee, on behalf of the Board of Assistant Aldermen.

And both Boards thereafter, without the transaction of further business, adjourned.

The Committees, soon after their appointment, proceeded, in a body, to the scene of the disaster, and found every effort being made under the direction of the Chief of Police, the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, and others of our citizens, to clear away the ruins, and to recover from them, those who might still survive, as well as the bodies of the killed.

The Fire and Police Departments were most active; numbers of their members labored incessantly in their work of mercy during the whole day and the succeeding night, which was intensely cold, and until every hope of rescuing alive a fellow-being had entirely vanished.

The Committee gave such directions as they deemed to be necessary, in order to furnish refreshments during the night to those engaged at the ruins, as well as to provide for the comfort of those who might be taken out alive.

A number of bodies having been taken out on Monday, and the following day, they were conveyed to the Fourth Ward Station house, and the following notice was published in the several papers of the city, so that the friends of the deceased might have every information as to where their remains could be found:

NOTICE

Is hereby given to the friends of those unfortunate individuals, whose lives were sacrificed by the explosion of a steam engine in the manufactory in Hague street, on the morning of the 4th inst., to call at the Fourth Ward Station house, (where the bodies now lay,) for the purpose of identifying them.

By order of the Committee.

EDMUND GRIFFIN,
DANIEL DODGE,
JAMES H. COOK,
JACOB F. OAKLEY,
GEORGE H. FRANKLIN,
WARREN CHAPMAN,
MORGAN MORGANS,
Committee of the Board of Aldermen.

S. L. H. WARD,
FLORENCE McCARTHY,
ALONZO A. ALVORD,
OSCAR W. STURTEVANT,
Committee of the Board of Assistant Aldermen.

It being evident, from the appearance of several of the bodies, that they could not be identified, arrangements were made by the Committee for the burial of the same under their especial direction, and a sub-Committee, consisting of Aldermen Franklin, Cook and Morgans was appointed to make the necessary arrangements therefor.

A communication was subsequently received from the President and Directors of the "Cypress Hills Cemetery," generously offering a plot of ground in said cemetery, for the interment of these remains.

Which was accepted by the Committee, and their thanks directed to be tendered to them for the liberal offer.

A communication was also received from Moses Maynard, Esq., on the part of the Long Island Railroad Company, offering the gratuitous use of a train of cars on the day of the funeral to the grounds of the cemetery.

The offer was accepted, and the thanks of the Committee directed to be tendered to the Company, through Mr. Maynard, for the generous proposal.

By Saturday the 9th of February, the ruins had been entirely removed, the locality closely searched, and every body reclaimed that could be found.

The sub-Committee accordingly proceeded to make the final arrangements for the sepulture of those unfortunate persons.

Tuesday, the 12th, having been fixed upon as the day, the following programme of arrangements for the funeral, was published in the several city papers:

FUNERAL OF THE UNRECOGNIZED.

The funeral of the unfortunate persons who lost their lives by the explosion in Hague street, and whose remains have not been identified or claimed by their friends, will take place from the BROADWAY TABERNACLE, on Tuesday, the 12th inst., at 11 o'clock, A. M. The ceremonies will be opened with a prayer by REV. J. P. THOMPSON. After which, a hymn will be read by the REV. HENRY CHASE, and sung by the choir. On the conclusion of which, REV. E. F. HATFIELD will read a portion of the Scripture. An address will then be delivered by REV. S. H. TYNG. The ceremonies will be concluded with a prayer by REV. S. H. CONE.

The procession will then form in Broadway, right on Anthony street, and proceed down Broadway and Whitehall street to the South Ferry, and thence cross to Brooklyn, where a train of cars (which has been generously tendered for the occasion by the Long Island Railroad Company,) will be in readiness to convey the remains, and those accompanying them, to the Cypress Hills Cemetery. Further suitable ceremonies will there take place.

The survivors employed in the building at the time of the disaster, are requested to attend as mourners. The societies of Hatters and Machinists especially, and the public generally, are respectfully invited to attend.

GEORGE H. FRANKLIN,
JAMES H. COOK,
MORGAN MORGANS,
Committee of Arrangements.

The ceremonies at the Tabernacle were of a most interesting and melancholy nature.

They were opened with prayer by the Rev. J. P. Thompson, pastor of the congregation worshipping in that building.

A hymn was then read by the Rev. Henry Chase, of the Mariners' church, and sung by the choir, under the direction of Mr. George Loder.

Upon the conclusion of which, a portion of the scriptures was read by the Rev. E. F. Hatfield, of the Seventh Presbyterian church.

An address was then delivered by the Rev. Thomas Armitage, of the Norfolk street Baptist church, (Rev. Dr. Tyng being necessarily absent in consequence of indisposition,) in which he alluded, in feeling and eloquent language, to the occasion.

The benediction having been pronounced by the Rev. S. H. Cone, of the First Baptist church,

The procession was formed in the following order:

Committee of Arrangements.

Special Committee
for Relief of the Sufferers.

Members of the Common Council of the city of New York.

The Rev. the Clergy
in attendance.

Pall Bearers.	HEARSE.	Pall Bearers.

Citizens generally.

The procession moved down Broadway to Whitehall street, and through the same to the South Ferry, whence it crossed to Brooklyn, where a train of cars was in readiness to convey the remains of the four unfortunate individuals to their last resting place in the beautiful ground of the Cypress Hills Cemetery.

On arriving at the Cemetery, after further suitable ceremonies, the bodies were all deposited in one grave.

In the meantime, the Committee had taken measures for the reception of the contributions of the citizens toward the relief of the families of the deceased and the sufferers by the calamity; and the following notice was published in the papers of the 7th of February:

NOTICE.

February 6th, 1850.

At a meeting of the Special Committee appointed by the Common Council of this city, in relation to the late melancholy catastrophe in Hague street, held at the City Hall this day, it was, on motion, Ordered—That Alderman Jacob F. Oakley be appointed Treasurer of this Committee, for the purpose of receiving the contributions of the citizens of New York, toward the relief of the families of the deceased and the sufferers by the said calamity.

February 23, 1850.

RELIEF NOTICE.

All persons intending to contribute to the fund being raised for the relief of the sufferers by the late deplorable calamity in Hague street, are respectfully requested to do so, on or before Friday, the 1st day of March, as the Committee charged with the said fund will, after that period, proceed to a distribution of the same among the several families and parties who have claims thereon, according to the circumstances attending their respective cases.

By order of the Committee,

RICHARD E. MOUNT,
Chairman, pro tem.

Richard Scott, Secretary.

At a meeting of the Committee, on the same day, the following resolutions, presented by Mr. Van Schaick, were adopted:

Resolved, That a Committee be appointed to examine and report upon the state of the Treasurer's accounts; the contributions which have been received, and their aggregate amount; also, the total sum paid for temporary relief, the amount paid for expenses, and exhibiting the balance of moneys in the hands of the Treasurer.

Resolved, That a Committee be appointed to report the names of the widows and other persons to whom temporary relief has been granted, and the amount paid to each for that purpose; the circumstances of the widows, if any discrimination be judged necessary, and the number of children belonging to each family to whom it is desirable to afford further aid, and the most advantageous form which can be devised therefor; the names of the sufferers who are permanently maimed and rendered unable to work, as well as the names and condition of parents and relatives who have been involved in this calamity by loss of support by death of, or injury to their children or relatives; and such other persons as have received bodily damage, who, in the judgment of the Committee, may be entitled to more aid than has already been extended to them; and that the Committee carefully examine each class of cases, and report such an apportionment of the balance of the money, which they may ascertain to be on hand, as they may deem to be suitable for each widow or other sufferer.

Resolved, That a Committee be appointed to make an arrangement with one or more Savings' banks, which are most conveniently located for the accommodation of the parties interested, to receive the funds which this General Committee shall deposit, in the name and for the gradual use of the widows, and the maimed, or other sufferers, according to the apportionment which may be sanctioned by this General Committee; the bank to agree to pay to the widow or other person dollars per month, under such regulations or arrangements as may suit the convenience of the bank, so long as the deposits respectively, and the interest which may accrue thereon, shall last; and to make an arrangement for a meeting of all the parties at the bank, for the purpose of being identified in the usual form.

Resolved, That the widows and other beneficiaries of the noble sympathy which our fellow citizens have exhibited on this occasion, be informed by the General Committee, that whatever part of the sum deposited to their credit they may be able to save, will, after their decease, become the property of their children or next of kin. The widows, especially, have therefore every inducement which can operate on the mind of a good mother, by their industry and economy, while in health, to save, each one, her little fund in the bank, as long as may be possible; and if, by their good management, a portion of it only shall descend to their well-trained and educated children, it may be to them an important assistance in the commencement or progress of their journey through life.

Messrs. Sturtevant, Ingalls and Fryer were appointed the Committee on the Treasurer's accounts.

And Messrs. Van Schaick, Low, Van Norden, Franklin, Moore, Griffin and Scott, the Committee on the two last resolutions.

Mr. S. S. Ward was subsequently added to the last named Committee.

At the meeting of the 1st of March, the sub-Committee being desirous of closing the temporary cases, in order that the Committee appointed on the final distribution of the funds might be enabled to perform the work assigned to it, the following resolutions, submitted by Mr. Van Schaick, were adopted:

Resolved, That the gentlemen engaged in administering temporary relief, be requested to terminate their duties, and make their final reports at the next meeting of this Committee, and that they furnish such reasonable assistance in temporary cases, not already settled, as they may deem to be suitable.

Resolved, That this Committee, when it adjourns, do adjourn to Wednesday next, at 4 o'clock, P. M.; that the Secretary send notice to every member of the Committee not now present, with a copy of the resolution which this Committee has passed, for the purpose of closing the temporary cases by the next meeting, and that the Temporary Committees report the names in full, street numbers and residences of the widows; their ages and the number of their children, with their ages; and the names of the permanently maimed or wounded, or disabled from work, with their places of residence; and also such circumstances as ought to influence the final distribution of the fund for permanent relief; also, that the said Committees report all cases of children who have lost a parent or parents, and for whom the Committee desire to recommend, with the consent of the surviving parent, if any, that places should be obtained in an orphan asylum, or other suitable institution, in which they will be protected and educated, until they respectively come of age.

Copies thereof were, in accordance with the last resolution, served on the several gentlemen having cases in charge.

The reports not having been all made to the Committee, in accordance with the previous resolutions of the 1st of March, Mr. Van Schaick, at the meeting of the 7th of March, presented the following preamble and resolution in relation to that subject, with a view of enabling the Special Committee on Distribution to complete the same.

Whereas, All of the visitors appointed to examine and settle temporary cases have not entirely finished the same, and have not reported in all cases the names and ages of the widows, and the names and ages of their children, with their places of residence and street numbers, and the names, ages and residences of the permanently maimed, as required by the resolution passed by the Committee on the 28th of February last, therefore,

Resolved, That the Secretary notify the several members who have cases in charge, not yet reported in full, in accordance with said resolution, so to report, on or before the next meeting of the Committee.

At the meeting of the 15th of March, the several Committees in charge of temporary cases had completed and made their respective reports in full, and in order to obtain every information relative to the sufferers, as well as to close the receipt of contributions, the following notice was published in the papers of the day:

City Hall, New York,
March 16, 1850.

RELIEF NOTICE.

Those who have suffered by the recent calamity in Hague street, and whose cases have not been fully reported to the Relief Committee, are requested to communicate with the Secretary thereof, 6 City Hall, on or before Tuesday, 19th inst., as a final distribution of the funds collected will be made among the several sufferers after that day.

And all persons having funds in their possession collected for the above object, are requested to hand the same to the Treasurer of the said Committee, at the same place, on or before the said day.

By order of the Committee,

RICHARD E. MOUNT,
Chairman pro tem.

RICHARD SCOTT, Secretary.

The Special Committee had, in the meantime, proceeded with the duty of completing the plan of final distribution, and on the 19th of March, they submitted the following report, detailing not only the apportionment made by them, but also the distributions for immediate relief afforded and paid out by the Visiting Committees.

The Special Committee, appointed to arrange a plan for the distribution of such portions of the funds as have not been paid out by the Visiting Committee, respectfully

REPORT:

That they have bestowed the greatest care and attention to the subject, which the delicacy and difficulty with which it is naturally surrounded appeared to require. They have investigated the cases of the widows with children, with the intention of furnishing to that class of sufferers the largest amount which the balance of the funds on hand, and the justice due to other sufferers, would permit. They have revised some of the other most interesting cases of loss and injury, and have endeavored to create an equality of relief between all the sufferers of this class, according to the merits of each case, generally, by adding a suitable sum to that which each one had before received from the Visiting Committees, excepting in cases of slight injuries and losses of clothing and tools, which they have left untouched, because these cases had been settled and discharged by the General Committee.

These two subjects comprehended the whole of the duties with which they were charged by the General Committee, as they relate to the distribution of the fund ; and the manner in which they have made the distribution is exhibited in a sheet accompanying this report, which details not only the apportionment made by this Committee, but also the distributions for immediate relief afforded and paid out by the Visiting Committees.

The Committee, in pursuance of their duties under another resolution, have made an arrangement with the Bowery Savings Bank, for the reception of the portions assigned to the widows residing in this city, for whom it is desirable to provide a more permanent support than can be afforded in other cases.

The character of this arrangement will be seen by the papers herewith submitted. When it takes effect, the Mayors of New York and Brooklyn and the President of the Mechanics' Society of New York, and their successors in office, will be constituted the trustees of the fund deposited for each widow and her children, and to simplify the business of the trustees, they will execute a short power of attorney, authorizing the widow to draw her monthly allowance. This arrangement will, it is believed, prevent the too free use and the misapplication of any portion of the funds. The Brooklyn gentlemen belonging to the Committee, have agreed to make a similar arrangement with the Savings Bank of that city, in favor of the widows and children residing therein, as they are arranged on the sheet to which your Committee have referred.

M. VAN SCHAICK,
J. VAN NORDEN,
J. P. MOORE,
SETH LOW,
G. H. FRANKLIN,
E. GRIFFIN,
} Special Committee.

The report was accepted, and the sums recommended to be paid adopted

The several sums thus awarded and paid out, will be seen by reference to schedule B.

The following resolutions, presented by Mr. Van Schaick, were then also adopted:

Resolved, That the Mayor of the city of New York, the Mayor of the city of Brooklyn, and the President of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen of the city of New York, and their successors in office, be the trustees of the widows and children for whom sums may be deposited in the Bowery Savings Bank and the Bank for Savings in Brooklyn.

Resolved, That the total amount awarded to the sufferers residing in the city of Brooklyn, be paid to the gentlemen from that city who are members of this Committee, to be distributed by them to the sufferers, or deposited in the Savings Bank of Brooklyn, as the case of the beneficiaries respectively may require, according to the list of apportionment authorized by this General Committee.

Resolved, That the Special Committee pay the sums for temporary relief awarded to the other sufferers named in the list, and that they deposit the sums apportioned to the widows and children, and all others for permanent relief, not disposed of by this Committee, in the Bowery Savings Bank, and that the Committee have liberty to pay a part of the apportionment made to any individual widow, who may be able to use the same discreetly.

Resolved, That the deposits to be made in the Savings Banks, under the preceding resolutions, are to be made so that the widow may draw monthly allowances, in conformity to the arrangement made with the Bowery Savings Bank, and under a power of attorney from the trustees who have been appointed.

Resolved, That the rate of monthly allowance be settled by the Special Committee.

Resolved, That the Treasurer draw the checks which may be required by the sub-Committee to carry out the resolutions of the Committee.

And the said Special Committee was, in addition thereto, authorized to apportion such surplus funds as might be subsequently received among the sufferers as they should deem proper, and also directed to report their proceedings to the General Committee at a future meeting thereof.

At the said meeting of the 19th of March, the Committee appointed to examine the Treasurer's accounts, also presented a report detailing the various sums received as contributions to the fund, as well as those paid out to parties for temporary relief.

By reference to the list of contributions, it will be seen that the workmen in the following named establishments and shops contributed liberally to the fund, the gross amount thereof being $3385 89, viz :

The Special Committee, having completed the duty assigned to them, report finally at a meeting of the General Committee on the 2d of April, as follows:

CITY HALL, NEW YORK, }
MARCH, 1850. }

The Special Committee who were directed by the six resolutions of the General Committee, passed at their last meeting, to close up the business of distributing the funds, and to deposit the sums apportioned to the widows and children in Savings Banks, and to report on the conclusion of all the business of the several committees,

RESPECTFULLY REPRESENT:

That the General Committee for the relief of the sufferers by the explosion of a steam engine in Hague street, composed of members of the Common Council and other citizens, whose names are recorded in the book of minutes kept by the Committee, commenced the execution of their duties on the 4th of February, by taking the most prompt and resolute measures to furnish aid and comfort to those individuals and families whom that most painful disaster had injured, or had suddenly thrown, in many instances, into a condition of destitution and despair.

To visit the persons and families who were involved in the calamity, as frequently as circumstances required, and to examine into each case with suitable care and attention, was a labor of considerable difficulty and great importance, occupying several weeks of the time of the Committee.

The zeal and fidelity with which the requisite and proper assistance was in all cases immediately afforded, and the prudence with which the investigations were conducted by the gentlemen composing the Visiting Committees, and the minute and discriminating character of their reports, are characteristic traits of an educated and commercial community, which may be dwelt on with the highest satisfaction.

The General Committee having, in their various meetings, decided upon the cases for temporary relief, and exhibited in the settlement of them the greatest attention and assiduity, finally imposed upon the Special Committee the duty of adjusting such particular cases as the General Committee had not examined and decided; and especially the cases of the widows and children of those persons who had been destroyed by the explosion.

This duty the members of the Special Committee have performed with all the solicitude which the delicacy and difficulty of making a final and satisfactory apportionment among the most important and interesting class of the beneficiaries appeared to require; and for that purpose, have attended at the Committee room almost every day since the last meeting of the General Committee.

The General Committee, having determined that the funds apportioned to each widow with children should be deposited in Savings Banks, under a restriction to draw out a limited monthly allowance, with some latitude of discretion as to the shares of the widows without children, and having appointed the Mayor of the city of New York, the Mayor of the city of Brooklyn, and the President of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen of the city of New York, and their successors in office, the Trustees of said widows and children, an arrangement was made by your Committee with the Bowery Savings' Bank, and by the gentlemen of the Committee from Brooklyn, with the Savings' Bank in Brooklyn, for that purpose.

On Friday, the 29th instant, the widows were assembled, under the care of the Visiting Committee, at the Bowery Savings' Bank, and were met by the Trustees of the Widows' Fund, and by the Special Committee, and a Committee of the Board of Direction of the bank. The widows occupied the seats around the bank parlor, and presented the appearance of a most respectable company. Habited in mourning garbs, and connected with an event of unusual and exciting interest, a more interesting and affecting sight could not be described. Sacred be the sorrows of the wounded in heart! The silence of the opening scene was deeply impressive; but the business of the meeting soon commenced, and was conducted by the officers of the bank and the Committee, with the most respectful and considerate attention to the feelings and the situation of these unfortunate ladies. The funds were then deposited, in the name of the official Trustees, in separate books, for each family or widow, under the special arrangements which had been made; the Trustees, at the same time confirming, by powers of attorney, (printed to conform to the peculiar and novel circumstances of the business,) the right to each widow to draw a monthly allowance, according to the following scale:

To each widow	with	5	children,	$9	a month.
"	"	"	4	"	8	"
"	"	"	3	"	7	"
"	"	"	2	"	6	"
"	"	"	1	"	5	"

These rates were adopted by the Special Committee on the consideration that if a family has the means secured, beyond a peradventure, of paying for its rent and fuel, with a little surplus, it will most probably be within the ability of a mother, with perhaps the aid of a grown child, to earn what may be necessary for their food and clothing.

Under this view of the progress of its absorption, the sum deposited, and the interest which may grow due thereon, will be a sure reliance for the beneficiaries for several years; and in all cases, where the family is united by one heart and one interest, and its head is possessed of the higher qualities which belong to the domestic character of the sex—those of industry, frugality and devotion to the welfare of their children—the fund may be preserved entire, or at least the greater portion of it, for the advancement of the children when they become of age.

In several of these families, some of the young people will soon be competent to earn a little money; and if it shall, at first, be only enough to enable them to purchase the books and materials necessary to employ their time and attention at home, so as to keep them out of the streets, and from the seductions of places of amusement at night, the foundation may be laid, in their ductile minds, for such views of the advantages to be derived from the practices of private duty, and such habits of gentle and rational domestic conduct may be acquired, as will conduce to their preservation from the temptations of a great city, in their youth, and from the delinquencies of vicious thoughts and manners in after life.

A similar form of proceedings was arranged by the gentlemen of the Committee from Brooklyn with the Savings' Bank in that city, for the benefit of the widows and children residing therein, and the money deposited in the name of the Trustees, subject to a scale of monthly allowances to the widows, by virtue of their powers of attorney, in the manner before described.

Lists of the names of the widows, and the sums deposited for each, are annexed to this report.

The Committee are sensible that no business of a public nature can be transacted, which may not be liable to erroneous animadversions. They, therefore, deem it expedient to explain, with some degree of minuteness, those features in the mode of distribution by the Committee which may be most easy of misconception.

During the commencement of their labors, the General Committee adopted the resolution of paying for the loss of clothes and tools to a limited extent. In some cases the loss to poor workmen was quite as great as if they had been slightly injured. If, under these circumstances, there should be any diversity of opinion as to the propriety of the decision which was made, by the General Committee, it may be answered, that as the amount distributed in that form was only $449 75, to nineteen persons, and as the fund has been ample for all reasonable puposes of relief, the error, if any has been committed, is not of serious importance.

In all cases of severe injury to persons, and in regard to orphans and widows with children, the utmost solicitude has been evinced by the Committee, that the largest share of the contributions should be awarded which their cases required, and a fair consideration of the claims of the less unfortunate sufferers would permit.

The schedule of the distribution, which is appended to this report, contains a comprehensive view of the particular circumstances of each case; but it is scarcely possible to arrange all the points of comparison which have entered into the settlement of the different cases without encountering a greater elaboration of detail, from the reports of the visitors, than the enquiry would appear to require, or the additional expense of printing nearly the whole of the reports of the Visiting Committees, would justify.

In apportioning the amounts for the widows, and the widows with children, the Special Committee have carefully discriminated in favor of those who would probably require the greatest amount of assistance; and to the three widows with children, whose domestic circumstances were most unfortunate, they have added, to the amounts confirmed by the General Committee at its last meeting, seventy-five dollars each, from the surplus on hand, having voted the the balance of that surplus, about thirty dollars, to Mr. Scott, subject to the payment of two small bills which have not been tendered.

That the Committee have had some difficulty in satisfying their own minds in every case, may be illustrated by the following instance: Two widows, each having five children—one of them has a boy seventeen years old, but two of her other children will probably never be able to work. The eldest in the other family is eight and a half years old, but the children are all sound. On these premises, which family is entitled to the largest apportionment?

Thus, in every classification, the various circumstances of the several cases, have influenced the decision of the Committee, and always in favor of those families which appeared to be most helpless and dependent.

The General Committee have now the agreeable duty to perform, of returning the thanks of the sufferers to the lonors of the fund collected for their relief.

Schedule B contains the names of the persons destroyed or injured, the nature of the losses sustained, and the amount awarded to each beneficiary. The citizens who have contributed to the fund, will be gratified with the perusal of that document; for while it constitutes a memorial of their benificence, it exhibits numerous cases of loss and injury which must have resulted in extreme suffering without the interposition of their prompt and liberal aid.

Frequent as have been the demands on this community for pecuniary means to relieve distress, on no former occasion has the response of the philanthropist and the Christian been made with more freedom and good will. This heart-cheering feature in the character of the movement in favor of the sufferers, may be attributed, in a great degree to the reputation for good and respectable conduct, which the boys and young men, and middle aged men enjoyed, who perished in the disaster. They were a body of workmen remarkable for their moral worth; and accordingly the best feelings of our humane and generous follow-citizens were enlisted in favor of the widows and children, and the mothers and other relatives who were dependent on the fruits of their industry for support.

The Committee have been induced, by a sense of justice to their fellow-citizens in New York and Brooklyn, and other places, to allude in terms of uncommon satisfaction to the ample aid which they promptly furnished for the relief of the sufferers by this calamity, and while they celebrate the benevolence of the donors to the funds in general, they feel great pleasure in the acknowledgment that the proprietors of the public press have, in proportion to their ability, relinquished the whole or a part of their bills for printing.

It is proper also to speak of the services of their secretary, Mr. Scott. The exact information acquired by him in relation to the personal sufferers, and the widows, children, fathers, mothers and other relatives of the deceased and badly injured, and his patient labor of detail, were of indispensable utility to the Committee, and in awarding him the small sum of $135 84 cents for his services, subject to the payment before mentioned, they have scarcely remunerated a most indefatigable and attendant officer.

The charirman of the Special Committee, Mr. Van Schaick, subsequently addressed a letter to Messrs. Brown, Brothers & Co., through whose house the money appropriated to Mrs. Zuill and Mrs. Eininger, was transmitted, of which the following is a copy:

HAGUE STREET COMMITTEE ROOM,
No. 6 CITY HALL, MARCH 26, 1850.

MESSRS. BROWN, BROTHERS & CO.:

GENTLEMEN:—Enclosed you will find two checks, drawn by Jacob F. Oakley, the Treasurer of the Hague street Committee, on the Seventh Ward Bank, in your favor.

One for $603.

One for $100.

I am instructed by the Committee, to request that you will be so good as to order, through your bankers or correspondents in England and France, the payment of the above sums of money, less the expenses, as follows:

To Ann Zuill, with 2 children, widow of James Zuill, machinist, aged about thirty-three years, who perished by the explosion of the steam engine in Hague street, the sum of $603.

To Madame Barbara Eininger, the mother of Joseph Eininger, aged about nineteen years, who perished in the same disaster, $100.

Mrs. Zuill lives at No. 21, Campbell's Terrace, Davis street, Boughton road, Salford, near Manchester, England.

Madame Eininger, demeurant dans le grand rue à Thann, departmente du haut Rhin en France, chez Monsieur Hollvwag.

This money is part of a contribution of about $27,000 given by the citizens of New York and vicinity, for the benefit of those who suffered by the disaster, being in all, direct and collateral, about 202 persons, and has been apportioned by the Committee, in pursuance of the best information they could acquire, and the best judgment they could form of each case of suffering.

With much respect,

M. VAN SCHAICK,
Chairman of Special Committee.

A letter was also transmitted to Mrs. Eininger, advising her of the remittance, as follows:

NEW YORK, MARCH 27, 1850.

MADAME BARBARA EININGER:

The Committee appointed by the citizens of New York, to furnish aid to the sufferers by the explosion of a steam engine in Hague street, consider that your son was in the habit of sending you a small part of his earnings, and for that reason the Committee desire to contribute somewhat to your comfort, from the fund placed at their disposal, and accordingly you will receive one hundred dollars.

The Committee do not suppose, that any money can be a remuneration for the loss of a dear and excellent boy of the good qualities which your son possessed; but they think, that in treating you as if you were a native of this country, they show towards you the greatest respect and pay a tribute to the memory of your beloved son.

By order of the Committee.

M. VAN SCHAICK,
Chairman.

A similar letter of advise was written to Mrs. Zuill.

Messrs. Brown, Brothers & Co. subsequently addressed a letter to Mr. Van Schaick, informing him of the remittance of the sums, as follows:

NEW YORK, 6TH MAY, 1850.

M. VAN SCHAICK, ESQ., Chairman of Committee for the sufferers by the Hague street explosion:

DEAR SIR:—Our Liverpool house, Brown, Shipley & Co., write us as follows, upon receipt of the amounts handed us by you, to be transmitted to some of the relatives of the sufferers on the other side of the water:

"The two drafts enclosed in yours, for the relief of the sufferers by the Hague street explosion, have been duly forwarded, the one for £124 9*s.* 5*d.*, in favor of Ann Zuill, to Messrs. A. & S. Henry & Co., and the other to a party in France, who will see that they are handed to the parties for whom they are intended."

We are, dear sir,
yours truly,
BROWN, BROTHERS & CO.

A letter was afterwards received from Mrs. Zuill, addressed to Mr. Van Schaick, advising him of the receipt of the funds apportioned to her, of which the following is a copy :

21 Campbell's Terrace, Davis street,
Boughton road, Salford, near Manchester.

To M. Van Schaick, Esq.

Dear Sir :—I received your kind letter of the 27th March, and beg to return my sincere thanks to you and to the Committee, for their kind and munificent gift to me and my children, by their directing Messrs. A. & S. Henry and Co., of this town, to pay me the handsome sum of six hundred and three dollars, and further, to express my feelings, although it pleased God to take from me my only support in this world, yet notwithstanding, I would have been entirely destitute, if it had not been through your kindness in enabling me to provide for my young family.

I have the honor to be, sir,
your most obt. servant,

ANN ZUILL.

The General Committee have thus reported their doings in the matter with which they were charged—the reception and distribution of funds for the relief of the sufferers by the terrible calamity in Hague street, on the 4th of February, 1850.

Before, however, closing their report, they cannot refrain from alluding, in terms of praise, to the several parties who, on that occasion, aided in the noble and humane efforts to rescue the living, as well as to reclaim the dead from the ruins within which they were buried.

His Honor the Mayor, the Chief of Police, the Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, Zophar Mills and W. McKeller, Esqs., large bodies of the Police and Fire Departments, and a number of others of our most respectable and honored citizens, together with the members of fire engine company No. 3, of Williamsburgh, were there, and labored incessantly the whole of Monday and the succeeding night, to clear away the ruins, and thereby to rescue all that might still survive the disaster.

Dr. Traphagen and his estimable lady, exhibited, in their devoted attentions to the wounded, many of whom were taken to their residence, the liveliest sympathy for their sufferings. Their house was generously opened and prepared to receive these unfortunate persons, as well as to warm and refresh those who were working at the ruins.

The Common Council, impressed with the generous and noble exertions of the firemen of our city, passed complimentary resolutions, tendering their thanks to them, as well as to the members of fire engine No. 3, of Williamsburgh, for their zealous services on the occasion.

The resolutions alluded to are as follows:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Common Council are eminently due, and the same are hereby tendered to the "Fire Department of the city of New York," for the zealous and untiring energies displayed by them in endeavoring to rescue the unfortunate persons who were buried in the ruins of the fire and explosion in Hague street, on the 4th day of February, 1850.

Resolved, That the thanks of the Common Council of New York are hereby tendered to the members of fire engine company No. 3, of Williamsburgh, for the efficient services rendered by them in endeavoring to rescue the unfortunate persons who were buried in the ruins of the fire and explosion in Hague street, on the 4th day of February, 1850.

Resolved, That the Clerk of the Common Council cause a copy of the above resolutions to be duly authenticated, and transmitted to the "Fire Department of New York," and to engine company No. 3, of Williamsburgh.

Copies of the foregoing resolutions were, in accordance with the last one, transmitted by the Clerk of the Common Council to the Fire Department of this city, as well as to the Williamsburgh engine company No. 3.

The Committee have not deemed it necessary, nor as a part of their duties, to inquire into the probable causes of the explosion—this has been done by the proper and legal party. Their duty has been to provide for those who have suffered by the calamity—for the wounded and the maimed, the widow and the orphan; and in the result of this duty, which their report exhibits, they have cause to congratulate their fellow citizens that the stream of liberality has flown so bountifully; and although it may not heal the broken heart, or restore to the widow her husband, yet it may save from want the afflicted family, and aid in the proper rearing and education of the children who have been made orphans by the calamity.
